ECEPTIONIST CELEBRATES OPENING OF ENGLAND AND UNITED KINGDOM SALES OFFICES

Houston, Texas, USA – Representatives of U.S. based Eceptionist, Inc. and South Yorkshire based Capex Health Ltd., today celebrated the appointment of Capex as the UK Partner for Eceptionist.

"The UK is an important market for us and we already have several customers running our software in a live environment. It is key to our development and the care of our UK customers to have a good UK partner to sell, deliver and support our product" said Eceptionist head of media relations, Deborah Jones. "Over the years, Eceptionist has worked with many organizations across the globe to bring together world-class medical professionals who choose to deploy web-based software applications to enhance the business processes of their healthcare institutions. These collaborations have not only advanced the frontiers of medical service delivery, but they have also improved the quality of medical care available to patient's world-wide. We believe the UK market represents an excellent opportunity for us both."

"Healthcare budgets and the cost of care are serious issues in the UK," said Charles Lilley, CEO of Capex Group. "We passionately believe that fundamental to a radical and sustained reduction in treatment cost – and high quality patient care – is care pathway redesign. Eceptionist is ideal, both to support and enhance the status quo and to encompass radical process redesign. We have a 'purpose-built' team of excellent staff trained and experienced in health product configuration, deployment and user training and we see our relationship with Eceptionist as a real opportunity for us to grow."

Founded in 1999, Eceptionist, Inc., (<http://www.eceptionist.com>), is a leading provider of software solutions for the healthcare industry. Eceptionist is dedicated to improving the efficiency and reducing the costs of healthcare organizations through the development of the Eceptionist platform.
